TOPOLA & OPLENAC - 5.700 RSD per person

Get to know “rebellious Serbia” and its path of establishing modern state while visiting Oplenac, The Mausoleum of The Serbian Royal Dynasty of Karadjordjevic.

Topola - former military base of Karadjordje who led Serbian freedom fighters during First Serbian Uprising against Ottomans. Oplenac hill complex: King Peter’s House has an area for thematic exhibitions, dedicated to the Karadjordjevic family or the events at the Endowment Compound including numerous relics and symbols of artistic and material value. Church of St. George is the mausoleum of the Serbian and Yugoslav royal house of Karadjordjevic. Decorated entirely with spectacular mosaics, church is sort of a museum of reproductions of the most beautiful frescoes of the medieval Serbian art. Royal wine cellar - on the hills of Oplenac, King Peter I planted vineyards on 38 hectares from which they made superb wines well known for their quality among major European royal courts. Karadjordje’s konak - once fortified residence of Karadjordje during First Serbian Uprising now stands as a museum dedicated to him.
